A collage of various fabric and leather samples, arranged in a grid-like fashion. The top row features a series of vertical strips in solid colors: yellow, orange, red, pink, light pink, orange, blue, grey, and dark blue. The middle row shows diagonal strips of textured materials, including a grey woven fabric, a red textured material, and a green textured material. The bottom row consists of two smaller square panels. The left panel shows diagonal strips of solid colors: green, pink, brown, and blue. The right panel shows diagonal strips of solid colors: blue, grey, brown, and purple. To the right of these panels is a vertical strip of a green textured material, followed by a vertical strip of a grey textured material.
